

EIM Advantage™

Integrated and Flexible Enterprise Information Management (EIM)
Solutions Designed to Maximize the Value of Your IT Investments

Reliability Matters

The amount of data generated by your company's IT devices and systems will grow more than 100x in the next decade. With continued investments in new or changing technology, the resulting data growth can cause your organization to become "data rich, information poor."

When data can be analyzed and understood, the resulting information becomes a transformative tool to reinvent, digitize, or streamline business by providing greater visibility into an enterprise, allowing businesses to achieve optimization, and ultimately, competitive advantage.

That's why CTG developed EIM Advantage™

EIM Advantage addresses business challenges by transforming data into actionable information that supports your unique business objectives. More than 145 EIM Advantage clients have recognized real business value, including:

Revenue Generation

Risk Reduction

Operational Efficiencies

Competitive Advantage

Safety

Information Security

CTG's EIM Advantage™ Solution

EIM Advantage is a portfolio of services that allows your organization to use data to drive toward business answers, manage data in a manner that directly relates to objectives, and to analyze and visualize information to enable the highest possible work process efficiencies.

Business Process

Drives productivity from data and process alignment

CTG's information management experts assess existing processes, resources, and tools in order to help you understand how information is being consumed. This provides insight into the current environment and offers improvement and remediation recommendations that support cost reduction and efficiencies.

Data Management

Ensures one version of truth across the enterprise

Document control, standardization, and normalization enable improved data management. Data indexing, warehousing, lakes, and integration result in a structured view of your enterprise data. Governance ensures you know where your data resides and who owns it, and assurance that it is properly organized—and secured—for use.

Analytics and Visualization

Gain business intelligence from measures, metrics,
and performance

Analytics and visualization present data patterns in a meaningful, usable way. CTG delivers business intelligence reporting, dashboard modeling, and 3D visualization to enable our clients to leverage data in a way that changes their business for the better.

HOW WOULD YOUR BUSINESS CHANGE IF YOU COULD:

- Extract value from data by transforming it into actionable information specific to your business needs?
- Utilize your data to enable efficient responses, increase team productivity, improve decision-making, positively impact profitability, and identify risks before they become issues?
- Have clear insight into the business objectives served by the information you own, who is impacted by it, and how they use it?

IN THEIR WORDS

"Organizations succeed with analytics only when good data and insightful models are put to regular and productive use by business people in their decisions and work. We don't declare victory when a great model or application is developed—only when it's being used to improve business performance and create new value."
